ST. LOUISANS SMASH HYDE SLATE AND PUT ALOE ON

Governor Meets Demand of Chairman Becker With Offer to Remove One of Three Women After Baber Calls Off Fight for Himself.

"BOSS-CONTROLLED" CONVENTION OPENS

Hyde Forces Will Use a "Steam-Roller" to Carry Out Executive's Program at Springfield Meeting to the Letter.

By CURTIS A. BETTS, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 29.—Through the elimination of Mrs. Frank P. Hays, president of the Women's Republican Club of St. Louis, from the administration slate for delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention and the substitution of Louis P. Aloe of St. Louis, virtually all possibility of discord in the Republican State convention, which convened here at 11:30 o'clock today, has been avoided.

The only question remaining over which there could be serious disagreement is a platform declaration on the Klan and that undoubtedly will be worked out in the resolution committee in a manner acceptable to the convention.

Following an announcement by National Committeeman Baber that he would not permit his name to be used in the delegation to delegates-at-large, his supporters in the St. Louis delegation, under the leadership of Louis J. Becker, chairman of the City Committee, demanded of Gov. Hyde and his friends, who are in complete control of the convention, that Aloe be placed on the slate.

Hyde Assets to Proposal.

Hyde agreed, on condition that Aloe take the place previously allotted to Mrs. Hays, and that the St. Louis delegation support the administration program all the way down the line. This was agreed to and the deal was made. It was thought for awhile that this would cause serious objection from the woman whose representation was already reduced from three to two.

Mrs. Hays accepted the change without objection. She will be an alternate delegate.

Mrs. Hays said she had no objection to the deal, explaining that she was from the same ward in which she resided, and that she believed the St. Louis delegation would have the right to select its own representative.

SPECIAL CASKET NEEDED FOR 490-POUND BODY OF MAN

Cook, Known Just As "Alexander," Dies From Infected Arm in Granite City.

A special casket will be necessary for the 490-pound body of a man known only as "Alexander," who died yesterday in St. Louis.

He was born in Vicksburg, and was reared in Lincoln County, Mo., south of Troy. From a farm youth, he became a rural school teacher, and while teaching in Pike County, he began the study of law with James O. Broadhead, later of St. Louis. He began practicing law in 1859, and in 1862 and 1864 was elected to the Legislature, and in 1868 to the National House of Representatives.

The St. Louisans had first demanded that a place be given Baber, but Hyde rejected Baber, announcing he would oppose his selection. The Baber men last night were talking of a fight on the convention floor, but this morning Baber notified them by telephone that he would not permit his name to go before the convention. According to one of the Baber men, Baber said that he hoped he could not win with Hyde, but that he and his friends had the right to select its own representative.

Hyde Forces Rule Convention.

A steady rain, which began about 8 o'clock and continued all morning, decreased the attendance at the convention and, at the hour opening, there were about a thousand visitors in the galleries which were filled at the Democratic convention, two weeks ago.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Clements of the committee, and James A. Cook, of New Madrid, took the chair as temporary chairman.

As a prayer by the Rev. C. B. Miller of the Springfield First Church, and an address of welcome by Judge John S. Fanning of the Springfield Court of Appeals.

After the announcement of members of the Committees on Credentials, Permanent Order of Business and Platform, a recess in the afternoon was taken.

Convinced by a checkup of the delegations that they were in complete control, State administration, under the leadership of Gov. Hyde, last night issued an order that only Hyde men should be given consideration in convention nomination, and that it was to be a final convention through and through.

HYDE IN KEYNOTE SPEECH ASSAILED SENATE INQUIRIES AS "MERE MAN-HUNTS"

Governor Defends Administration and Denounces Democratic Referendums—Silent on Failure to Call Legislature.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 29.—Gov. Hyde, in his address before the Republican State convention today, defended the taxation and educational policies of his administration and attacked the Democrats for having used the referendum to defeat other policies which he sought to place in operation.

Discussing national politics, he declared that the senatorial investigations had "degenerated into man-hunts conducted lawlessly and in defiance of decency." He eulogized President Coolidge, "whose life, character and accomplishments form the answer of the Republican party to the supreme needs of the hour."

The State part of the Governor's speech came first. He said the failures of his administration had been few, and that these were due to malicious misuse of the referendum.

He said election stealing had ceased. He complimented women voters, and mentioned his recent appointment of a woman as an Election Commissioner in St. Louis. He cited the payment of the $15,000,000 State soldier bonus, "more sparingly and less expensively than any other State."

Tax Cut Pledge Kept, He Says.

In speaking of road building, the Governor did not mention the controversy of last winter, over the extra session proposal. He said that by Jan. 1 next there would be 1300 miles of hard-surfaced roads and 1800 miles of grading, with 900 miles more under contract and in process of building. The total cost will be $24,000,000.

As to education, the Governor cited large increases in school funds, enrollment and days of attendance.

He said the pledge of reduction in the bureau of taxation had been kept, and that direct property taxes collected in 1922 were $12,222,226, as compared with $4,952,154 in 1920—last year of Gov. Gardner's administration.

The 1923 figures, not yet complete, will show a similar saving, he said. Taxes on homes, farms and other property, during the Hyde administration, will be $6,000,000 less than under the 4-year period, he said.

"Therefore," he said, "the claim that full valuation was accomplished by an increase in State taxes is utterly unsound. Full valuation did no more than to release the people of the local community the fair value of their own property as an assessment basis upon which, in the exercise of their own judgment, they could support their institutions in such a way as they saw fit."

Defends Full Valuation.

The effect of full valuation is best shown in the fact that in 1922 there were 882 school districts which had full valuation then in effect, and within the conditions at limits of taxation, could not assess as much as $200 a year to support their schools. In 1923, under full valuation, this number dropped to 234.

"In 1920 there were 287 schools which were limited in their support from taxation to a sum between $200 and $300. In 1923 this number had dropped to 121. There were, in all, in 1920, 531 schools in Missouri which could not assess their constitutional limits of taxation, or as much as $200 per year to support their schools. In 1923, there are only 222 such schools, or a decrease of 228."

These figures are conclusive evidence that the effect of full valuation has not only to afford the people an opportunity to use their own property as a basis for the support of their own schools, but they prove also the enthusiasm the acceptance of that opportunity by the people. The increased average enrollment of 66,957 children, and the increased length of school term demonstrate this beyond a doubt. In two years and 11 months, there have been $13,697,609 worth of school bonds issued for the purpose of building new schools. This means that there have been $1,800,000 more schools built in Missouri in the last two years, and 11 months than there were in the eight previous years."

Charges Democratic Interference.

The Governor said his administration had kept its pledge of scientific, humane and nonpolitical control of State charitable institutions. He then added that the measures which had been enacted in accordance with his pledges, but were held up by the referendum and defeated. This was done, he said, by Democratic misrepresentation, although the Democrats had endorsed similar proposals in their State platform. The bills, if permitted to become operative, would have saved millions of dollars to the State, he said, and he predicted that they would yet become law.

DYOTT ASSURED OF ASSISTANCE IN BEER INQUIRY HERE

Special Prosecutor of Liquor Law Violations Told to Go to Bottom of St. Louis Scandal.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Missabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of enforcement of the Volstead act, told the Post-Dispatch today that the Department of Justice proposed to give John C. Dyott, Federal prosecutor of liquor law violations, "all the possible assistance and backing" in his effort to "get to the bottom" of the St. Louis beer protection scandal.

"Four years ago," followed by contrasts with "today." One of these paragraphs was:

"Four years ago reds and radicals filled the air with their frowsy and destructive theories; men like Tom Mooney, bomber of a prepared parade, were pardoned; and men like George D. Herren, Socialist and free-love advocate, were appointed upon diplomatic commissions. Today reds and radicals are the parlor, cootie and academic variety, have been reduced to soapbox pupils, and American missions are manned by the sons of real beer."

Nolan's Inquiry Still On.

The inquiry started by the Treasury Department will also go forward.

This is under the personal direction of Elmer Ivey, chief of the intelligence unit (the secret service) of the Internal Revenue Bureau, whose action last January in assigning David Nolan, chief of the St. Louis operatives, to the case, was the first step in the uncovering of corruption believed to exist in the Missouri enforcement office.

There is no disposition in the Department of Justice to credit the inquiry to our institutions, we recognize the danger to our institutions should public officials generally prove faithless to their trust. That danger, however, is not greater than the menace to American institutions and to fundamental Americanism if slanderous accusations are permitted to take the place of the proper, or partisan expediency supported by the majority of the regularly constituted authorities.

The plank, while not directly denunciatory of the klan, is much strengthened than that adopted by the Democratic committee, seems to be seen whether the klan has sufficient strength in the convention to prevent its adoption. It is expected there will be one or more Klan members on the Platform Committee, and that a fight will be staged in the committee.

SPENCER DEFENDS OIL LEASES IN HIS MESSAGE TO G. O. P.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 29.—The Republican State convention today received greetings from President Coolidge and from Senator Spencer.

Col. Dwight F. Davis of St. Louis, Captain Marvile, R. R. Brewster, Kansas City; Louis P. Aloe, St. Louis; Mrs. Sylvester Wells, Kansas City, and Mrs. W. R. Haught of Branson.

The state on alternates to delegates-at-large at noon stood as follows:

Gov. Hyde, Senator Spencer, St. Louis; Cal Pierce, Maryville; R. R. Brewster, Kansas City; Louis P. Aloe, St. Louis; Mrs. Sylvester Wells, Kansas City, and Mrs. W. R. Haught of Branson.

The state on alternates to delegates-at-large at noon stood as follows:

Judge John Schmid, Harry Knight of St. Louis; M. Morris, negro, of St. Louis; W. L. McKeithen, negro, Poplar Bluff; Asa W. Butler, Alton; State Oil Inspector and Comptroller in Missouri, and J. G. Hughes of Kansas City, former chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Major Beach of Kansas City made an address telling how, as a Republican, he had helped to smash the "Tom and Joe" Democratic machine in Kansas City three weeks ago. His denunciation of "machines" did not evoke wild burst in the St. Louis sections of the delegation.

Request of Brewster Denied.

Incidentally, it is understood that R. R. Brewster, who was recently appointed a special Prosecutor in the Kansas City case, called at Dyott's office in St. Louis and asked to be allowed to inspect the papers in the St. Louis beer case.

Brewster was refused as the St. Louis and Kansas City cases had no authorization from Mrs. Willebrandt to look over the St. Louis files.

"Degenerate to Man-Hunts."

The present senatorial investigations were not conceived nor conducted in good faith.

Oftentimes, they might influence legislation, they have been long since degenerated to man-hunts, conducted lawlessly and in defiance not only of the plainest precepts of law, but of every consideration of decency.

As conducted, they are not within the constitutional power of the Senate.

If the test question is intended to form a basis for impeachment, they are not within the province of the House of Representatives.

If the testimony is taken as a basis for criminal prosecution, they infringe the province of a grand jury. In either case, the Senate itself is giving an exhibition of lawlessness which is one of the danger signals of the times."

The Governor concluded his speech with a eulogy of President Coolidge as "calm and sincere in his ideals of individual opportunity and responsibility, exemplified in his own life that devotion to home, church and State which are the fundamentals of American character, devoted to the underlying principles of free constitutional Government to defend which the Republican party was organized."

DR. H. S. CURTIS TO LECTURE

Expert on Physical Education Engaged by Washington University.

The Governor said his administration had kept its pledge of scientific, humane and nonpolitical control of State charitable institutions.

He then added that the measures which had been enacted in Washington University, in accordance with Dr. Curtis' suggestion, will give also a series of public lectures on physical education and child welfare.

These courses are being given to prepare physical directors to meet new State requirements in regard to physical education in grade and high schools.

the platform, announced by the district caucuses are:

Dr. E. S. Brown Edina; Roy H. Menier, Carrollton; H. A. Martin, Kramer; W. E. West of Andrew County; J. A. Harsfield, Kansas City; R. J. Groves, Warrensburg; L. Cunningham, Bolivar; C. M. Harrison, Bonneville; T. W. Huckabee of Warrenton; George H. Williams, St. Louis County; Louis Beck of St. Louis; C. C. Cadden, Clay St. Louis; Robert H. Davis, Iron County; Ralph E. Bailey, Scott County; W. H. Haller, Nevada and W. C. Hawking of Dallas County. The committee is controlled by the Hyde forces.

one of the four could break the slate. All would be popular with the slate which the delegates will be ordered to vote for. Slates have been broken in conventions, but the estimate here is that Hyde controls at least three-fourths of the delegates and there is nothing to indicate any slip in the arrangements.

The only point on which the "king-makers" as the Hyde forces are referred to by the anti-Hyde forces, have failed to agree upon is the slate for presidential electors-at-large. Dr. J. C. Parrish of Vandals was chosen for one, and yesterday they thought they had agreed upon Mrs. Grace Semple Burlingham for the other. But there was a reconsideration last night, and some of them obtained a shift in the slate.

A decision yesterday to place a St. Louis negro on the delegation-at-large was reconsidered last night when the Hyde forces became firmly convinced that they could do as they pleased with the convention and that the "hand-picked" delegates would carry out any orders the Governor saw fit to give. The negro, Walthal M. Moore, was stricken from the slate and Pierce, another Hyde leader and Hyde associate, was substituted.

St. Louisians' Appeal Ignored.

The piles of Circuit Clerk John Schmid, Chairman Becker of the St. Louis City Committee, Charles Hertenstein and others, that St. Louis was entitled to recognition with the delegation they wanted on deaf ears.

With the exception of Nat Goldstein and those closely associated with him, the St. Louis delegation does not want Spencer on the delegation-at-large slate.

The Governor began to bear down with his authority Sunday night without any definite demand that he would not consent to have Babler placed on the delegation. He followed that up yesterday with the demand that up to yesterday with the demand that Pierce be given a place. There was only one way to make room for him and that was to remove either the negro, Moore, or one of the three women who had been agreed upon.

Hyde, Bert G. Voorhees of St. Joseph, who will be permanent chairman of the convention; R. R. Brewster of Kansas City; Senatorial nominees of 1922 and other party leaders confirmed in the right to be seen whether it became known that they had decided that Moore should be an alternate and that his place on the slate should be filled by Pierce.

Threat of Open Revolt.

As finally determined on last night, the Hyde slate is composed as follows:

Gov. Hyde, Senator Spencer, St.

Louis; Cal Pierce, Maryville; R. R. Brewster, Kansas City; Louis P. Aloe, St. Louis; Mrs. Sylvester Wells, Kansas City, and Mrs. W. R. Haught of Branson.

The state on alternates to delegates-at-large at noon stood as follows:

NO MORE PAVING UNTIL CITY KNOWS PRICES ARE RIGHT

Board of Public Service Makes Announcement in Belief All Charges for Work Are Too High.

Following the disclosure of high paving prices, in recent exclusive articles in the Post-Dispatch, the Board of Public Service today decided that no more street jobs would be let until the paving contractors satisfied the city their prices were not too high.

This decision was announced at a board meeting in the following statement prepared by President
Kinsey:

"The Board of Public Service is making a study of prices bid on all types of sheet asphalt pavements, including Willite process and bitumastic.

"The board is under the belief that the entire plane of prices on this character of work is too high in St. Louis. They will not make an award on the contracts now pending until the low bidders have justified the present prices if they can."

"It will be the policy of the Board not to award any contracts on the present plane of prices unless and until the contractors can prove to the satisfaction of the board that these prices are reasonable. This will apply to all types of sheet (asphalt) pavements in contemplation."

Amount of Work Held Up.

The city had planned to let contracts
this year for $52,646 square yards of street paving, of which 154,405 yards were specified to be paved with Willite process, a patented asphalt process. It was an investigation of this process by the Post-Dispatch that led to the discovery of the high prices. The board now bids that all bids on street paving here were very high and, in some cases, out of line with prices in other cities. Up to this time the Board of Public Service had been letting contracts at pre-existing prices.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Suspension of Sec. 28 of the Merchant Marine Act for one year, as proposed in legislation introduced in Congress, is favored by President Coolidge. Mr. Coolidge believes consideration should be given meantime to the effect of the section, which would require American shippers to transport their goods in American ships to get the advantages of preferential rail rates and water rates. He will not award any contracts on the present plane of prices unless the contractors show why they should receive the prevailing prices.

CITY'S NEW RADIUM LABORATORY READY

Improvement at City Hospital
Under Bond Issue Was at Cost of $100,000.

The new X-ray and radium laboratories at city hospital made possible by the bond issue are now complete and will be put to use Thursday.

The extended department of radiology, which represents an investment of $100,000, was opened yesterday for a private demonstration, and tomorrow at 3 and 8 p.m., will be demonstrated privately to invited members of the St. Louis medical profession. Treatment of hospital patients will begin Thursday, and for 10 days laboratory demonstrations for the hospital staff will be given.

Twelve X-Ray Machines.
The department is in the reconstructed winging room on the north side of the hospital group, and consists of 21 rooms, with 12 sets of X-ray apparatus and a radium emanating machine. Two rooms are fitted with fluoroscopic surveillance tables, where surgeon may locate a fracture and set it without relying on an X-ray plate taken before and after the surgical work. The surveillance tables can be used for operations and provide internal organs which are exposed to the operator. Other rooms are devoted to taking and developing X-ray plates, and emergency treatment of such injuries as fractured skulls and bullet wounds.

The most costly item of equipment is the $45 milligrams of radium salts which cost the city $29,975, and which are in a specially constructed wall vault. The radium gas, which rises constantly from these salts, is pumped off by means of an emanating machine, intricate device consisting mainly of delicate glass tubes and the gas pipe in tiny capsules not thicker than a toothpick, will be used in the treatment of cancer and other diseases susceptible to radium. The radium salts are considered a permanent asset, as it is estimated they will lose but half their strength in 150 years.

Advantages of Radium Gas.
The advantage of the radium gas is that it can be placed in a growth to be destroyed, and is superior to treatment by rays, which strike only the surface of the body. As the gas loses its strength in four days, can be "forgotten" without harming the patient, thus preventing injury which might occur should a like amount of radium salts be allowed to remain in tissue.

Dr. Roy L. Santl, chief city radiologist, is in charge of the new department of radiology. He is particularly insistent in declaring that radium is not a "cure-all" for cancer and other similar diseases. "We can do a great deal, however, by the combined use of radium, X-ray and surgery," but the idea that cancer salts can be taken internally is entirely false," he said.

Fears Rush of Patients.

Dr. Eugene A. Schaffner, superintendent of the hospital, fears a rush of patients who are not eligible for treatment in a city institution. "We have nothing here that cannot be secured in a private hospital by those who can afford to pay," he said. "True, we have the only emanating machine in St. Louis, but the private radium specialists or the hospital can secure the capsules of radium gas overnight from Chicago. We cannot give treatment to any except those who are too poor to afford private treatment."

Farm Bill's Fate Up to Coolidge.
By WALTER ALEXANDER, Times Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, April 29.—Republican leaders of the House are of the opinion it would be unwise to put the McNary-Haugen agriculture export bill to a vote until the views of President Coolidge on the measure are known. If he favors the enactment of the bill it will be given right of way. If he does not, the Republicans will not make a determined effort to press the proposal to a vote.

SENATORS ROW OVER CALLING OF HAMON'S WIDOW

She Takes Stand in Oil Inquiry, but No Member of Committee Cares to Question Her.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—A sharp three-cornered row broke out in the Senate Oil Investigating Committee today, when the widow of Jake Hamon, late Republican national committeeman for Oklahoma, appeared on the witness stand in response to a summons from the committee.

Mrs. Rohrer, as she now is, sat silently in front of a battery of cameras for 10 minutes, while Senators Spencer (Rep.), Missouri; Stanfield (Rep.) of Oregon, and Walsh (Dem.) of Montana, wrangled as to whose was the responsibility for bringing her there and whether she should be examined.

The calling of Mrs. Rohrer turned out to be a fiasco. Nobody had any questions to ask her, and she was excused without having done more than give the stenographer her name.

The expectation of sensational testimony, which might throw some light on the stories of oil deals at the Republican national convention in 1920, a large crowd of the "hearing hounds" of the capital had assembled. They saw a young-looking, fresh-cheeked woman, in a little black hat and a long gray coat, carrying a single call book. She was perfectly at ease.

Committee Examines Crowd.

Though the crowd was foiled of all save the sight of Mrs. Rohrer, it got a full measure of entertainment from the committee itself. Mrs. Rohrer too smiled once or twice as if enjoying the comedy. Mrs. Rohrer had no sooner taken her seat after being called from her hotel than Senator Spencer began a statement of protest.

"It is safe to assume," said Spencer, "that she is to be interrogated concerning the business and political affairs of her husband and as to what she learned from him. I do not think we ought to subject her to such examination. If she has any independent knowledge about the United States naval oil reserves I should, of course, have no objection."

Spencer seemed to be under the impression that Walsh was keen to examine the witness.

"I accept with due humility the added rebuke of the Senator," said Walsh with all the sarcasm he could put into his voice. "But Mrs. Rohrer was called here at the suggestion of Senator Stanfield, not my suggestion."

Stanfield is a Republican member of the committee who occasionally aids Spencer in his bouts with Walsh.

Walsh Starts Fireworks.

Walsh's statement that Stanfield inspired the calling of Mrs. Rohrer started the fireworks. He declared that Stanfield and Stanfield were trying to evade their responsibility. The three of them wrangled with increasing heat.

"Don't bother me about it," said Walsh. "I have nothing to do with calling her here. Senator Stanfield demanded that the witness be called and I issued the subpoena."

Stanfield denied that he had made such a demand. Walsh called for the record. It was produced and read. It showed that Stanfield had called for the books and the executor of the Hamon estate as an offset to reports of deals at the Republican convention. Walsh claimed that the record vindicated him inasmuch as Mrs. Rohrer was the executrix of the estate.

"Perfectly Satisfactory."

Stanfield said that the record bore out his claim. When he had demanded, he said, was that competent evidence be secured if the Senator from Montana was going to continue to regard the hearsay testimony about the Chicago convention as relevant to the oil inquiry.

"If the Senator wants to back out," said Walsh, "that is his privilege."

He added that the testimony about the convention was "pertinent and relevant," and was "perfectly satisfactory" to him as it stood.

Chairman Ladd asked whether

T. EVEREST EXPEDITION PUSHES ON DESPITE LOSS OF GEN. BRUCE, ITS LEADER

Lieut.-Col. Norton, in First Report of Chief's Retirement, Says It Will Be Permanent; Harsh Cold Encountered.

By Lieut.-Col. E. F. Norton.

Of the 1924 Expedition to Scale Mount Everest. Copyright by the London Times and the Post-Dispatch by arrangement with the Mount Everest Committee.

KHAMBA DZONG, April 14.—The 14th of April finds the expedition to the base camp. Yesterday we received the severest blow in news that our leader, Gen. Bruce, had been forced to return to Phari from Yaulin and Darjeeling, owing to severe malaria. There is every reason for the belief that his absence will be permanent.

To all who knew what the personality of Bruce meant to the members of the Himalayan party, to the Tibetan officials and others with whom the expedition remained in contact, the news was a shock for itself.

Bruce creates unique atmosphere and his place must be filled adequately, while counter wind which could be called up to Tibetan form.

Cold Weather for Camping.

The face cannot be blinked at the minute, appalled by trying at any time or season. The conditions are about as favorable as we have a right to expect; still we had to camp three nights between 16,000 and 17,000 feet.

The thermometer recording plus 4 degrees Fahrenheit one night and minus 2 degrees the next (G. e. 28 and 34 degrees of frost, respectively).

One night when we were all enjoying the warmth and comfort of the paternal mess tent the "meteorologist" somewhat surprised us by telling us we were sitting in some 10 degrees of frost.

Two of the party have suffered to some extent from stomach trouble, and this seems unavoidable comprising the experience of previous expeditions. These excepted, we have a clean health of the United States experts heavily ill, which speaks well for Bruce's careful selection of porters. None of them is sick or sorry today.

Keeping to Schedule of 1922.

The pleasantest part of the Khamba trip is the descent to Khamba Dzong. In this respect the trip this year was no exception.

Khamba proved more of a sun trap than ever. We have basked and washed photographs and sketched, and the rest of the expedition spent the route of 1922 over the negotiable upland of Donkala pass on the Eastern spur of Pashunri. This was necessary by the General's return to a more normal climate. Maj. Hingston re-

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight wrongs of all sorts, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

A Dangerous New Sport.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A DILIGENT search of the sporting page fails to reveal any recognition accorded to a new sport—a sport which is certain to become increasingly popular during the warm weather. The game consists in a Ford owner's trying, with a half-block handicap, to beat a street car over a crossing. As the game makes Bill the motorman say things which neither Mr. Perkins nor the man on the sand box would entirely approve of, perhaps we should call it "Angering Bill's Angers."

Perhaps it is not a game. It may be only what the psychoanalysts call "transference." Dr. Madison Grant and Dr. Lothrop Stoddard have injected into the proletarian liberal doses of Nordic superiority. Most automobiles are made in Detroit; hence, Fords are Nordic. But express trains have only the most profound contempt for anything which pre-empted the right of way, from contented and contemplative tows to Fords full of fools. So the inevitability of things Nordic must be tried out on the less dangerous street car.

Again it occurs to me that the Ford owners who joust with Bill the motorman may be animated by the same spirit that urged the Knight of de la Mancha to attack windmills. To the Ford owner, the street car may represent all the ill that flesh is heir to. When the Ford owner hears Bill tap the bell, he sees red. Giving his spark a rude jerk, he dashes forth to right the present sorry scheme of things.

Or there may be ascending the scale. They may have tired of sending the unending pedestrian "where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest." With Alexander, they sigh for other worlds to conquer, and the street car swings in view. Whatever the cause, I feel that the Department of Streets and Sewers should make some regulations in the matter. The street car is neither so agile as the pedestrian, nor so quickly stumped as a Ford. And while a Packard may look noble in decay, the sight of a Ford that a street car has maneuvered around in the breast of the man in the street only the most profound contempt.

Why Painters Upheld Union.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I N ANSWER to "Painter's Wife" let me ask: What brought them to St. Louis? I will answer, better wages than are paid in Hannibal—wages and conditions that took years of struggle, hardships and money, by painters who had some backbone. Does she think they were any better paid than factory workers if they did not have some backbone? Would she be able to buy a $2500 house if it was not for the men she is condemning? When the painters were getting $5 a day, suppose some painter's wife was satisfied with that; would the bosses ever offer her husband $10 a day now? Some painter's wife suffered them and made possible for her husband to be offered $10 a day. Look at the painters who have spent $15,000,000 in the last three years fighting the "open shop." Of course, we realize that all men in a union are not in there as a matter of principle. They come in after a nice soft bed has been made for them by men who have stood many hard knocks. And then they whine and criticize the ones who "built the house" for them. Because over 100 of them can't make 200 real men go their way.

Won't Be a Slave to Fashion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I READ the letter in your column, headed "To Bob or Not to Bob," and heartily agree with the writer.

I am a young girl, just out of high school, and have not as yet shorn my locks, the simple reason being that I have long, thick, fluffy hair and if I do say so myself, I can fix it nicely. Furthermore, I think it is a matter of individual taste and not the idea that because all the girls one goes with have bobbed hair. That is the trouble with American girls, because one does a thing they all do it. One carries a stick, they all do it. Not that I don't like bobbed hair. I am not an old maid, and have just as many nice boy friends as the girls with bobbed hair, and they aren't the little cake-eater kind, either.

But to get down to what I wish to say is this: Why in the name of Julius Caesar don't the girls with bobbed hair leave the girls with long hair alone? I work with about 40 girls, and, of course, they nearly all have bobbed hair, and it is rag, rag, rag, day after day. "Why doesn't she cut her hair?" There's the rub. I don't want to. I don't have to. I won't be a slave to fashion, no thanks.

SEVENTEEN.

A NEW MUSCLE SHOALS DEAL.

President Coolidge denies having made the statement attributed to him in a telegram by a Ford employee that he was trying to deliver Muscle Shoals to Mr. Ford, and the denial ends the controversy. The fairest conclusion is that the employee wanted to make as good an impression as possible on his employer. Moreover, Mr. Ford's erratic political behavior may also be ignored in so far as it might be construed to indicate a bargain with the President.

With such products of the "war emergency" carried over into peace by Congress, the need for war taxes in time of peace is quite understandable.

ing advantage of decisions of the Rent Commission, through fictitious sales of property, pyramiding second, third, fourth and fifth trusts upon the same through dummy transactions, made solely for the purpose of increasing rents. Where the Rent Commission has lowered one rental at least 100 rentals have been raised in consequence of some decision of the Rent Commission.

With such products of the "war emergency" carried over into peace by Congress, the need for war taxes in time of peace is quite understandable.

MELLON'S INVESTIGATION.

"Scandal mongering" in Washington has reached a point where it cannot be blamed on the Democrats, on Congress, or on the Soviet government or the I. W. W. At last we have an investigation of the public's confidence in Mr. Ford's capacity and good intentions. It was a fine compliment to Mr. Ford, but the value of the property is too tremendous to be disposed of on any such sentimental reason as public faith in a bidder. The bid itself must be examined.

When the Ford bid is even cursorily examined the mistake of accepting it becomes obvious. Mr. Ford has offered a pittance for a principality, his obligations under the contract are meager, and he stubbornly insists on a lease of 100 years, which, if accepted, means in effect, the repeal of the water-power act, which was designed to preserve the great natural resource of water power for the public's use and benefit and safeguard it against private exploitation. That one condition makes the Ford bid utterly unacceptable, even if it were satisfactory in other respects.

Further, the testimony of Secretary of War Weeks before the Norris committee emphasizes the necessity of proceeding slowly in this matter. Mr. Weeks says that the Ford bid is the worst of the three bids submitted, but asserts that none of them is acceptable. He described the extraordinary development in water-power transmission recently and ventures that within a short time it will be possible to deliver Muscle Shoals power to any point east of the Mississippi. Nothing like this, he explains, was dreamed of two years ago, and for that reason the length of the lease is one of the most salient points to be considered.

In view of Mr. Weeks' testimony, together with other facts brought out by discussion and inquiry, it seems as if we should have an entirely new deal for this property, reject all three bids and make a fresh start. The proposition is one of engineering and finance. The Government has plenty of able engineers in the army who could draft the terms of a lease which would protect the interests of both the public and the lessee. Capable financiers could be engaged to prepare that part of it. We should then have a lease which could safely be granted, or which would be the basis for negotiation with competent bidders with a reasonable certainty of sound, equitable bargain.

That lease, manifestly, should provide for the Government's retaining control of the property and its maximum length should be 25 years.

JOHN C. ROBERTS.

As one of the founders and active managers of the Roberts, Johnson & Rand Shoe Co., now the International Shoe Co., which has become the leading shoe manufacturing concern in the world, John C. Roberts, whose death occurred Sunday, demonstrated his high capacity as business man. He was one of the leaders of industry who contributed greatly to the growth of St. Louis as an industrial and commercial center.

Mr. Roberts' interests were not confined to business. For years he was active in politics in the best way, not as a candidate for public office but as a force in good government. He supported the forces of reform whenever opportunity offered. He was active in many movements for the welfare of the community and of the State and nation.

He may have all kinds of "orders" from the Department of Justice. He will doubtless make his "order" public at the coming meeting of the Ku Klux Klan in Herrin, scheduled to be the largest meeting of the kind in history. We shall await that event with interest.

But if, in certain unusual cases, courts have diverted fines to charitable organizations, or given immunity in exchange for valuable testimony, this is no way authorizes citizens, not even klansmen, to promise immunity to law breakers in exchange for sums of money to build klan temples or for any other purpose.

The thing is preposterous. Instead of being legal, the act is plain blackmail and, if the persons promised immunity were guilty of the crime charged, the promise of immunity by private individuals amounts to making such individuals participants in crime.

His liking for "ersatz" coffee was one advantage over his fellow men that is said to have cost Stinson his life.

BUSINESS SHOWS POLITICS.

Business has again shown itself superior to politics in the rehabilitation of war-ruined nations. French patriotism, on which French politics was based, solved nothing. Instead of that it placed barriers in the way of the normal forces of recuperation. No alleviation to the avid passion of chauvinism, fear and revenge through politics appeared attainable.

It took an unofficial committee of bankers and experts to show the way. Meanwhile Great Britain furnished the sinews of the new German discount bank. Now enters an American dollar credit which, with relatively small beginnings, gives assurance of restoring normal trade between Germany and the United States. With Germany fully at work under a settled plan, with the concord of all the controlling Powers, the rift in the European cloud is discernible and promising. It remains for diplomacy, through the League of Nations and the World Court, to anticipate inequities and frictions which might lead to another holocaust.

What politics has done to hold back Germany is similarly doing to hold back Russia. International commerce is chafing at the restraints of government which are holding from the world the rich markets and raw materials of the Czar's late empire. There is less fear of sovietism on the part of business than on the part of politics. Sincere adherents of the capitalistic system are not afraid to try it out against Marxianism. It is the mutual temperamental pugnacity on the part of Russian, Western European and American Governments which stands in the way of a basis for trade arrangements beneficial to all. A solvent may be found in the open-minded leadership of the British Labor Government.

Will the Missouri Republicans bellow at the Ku Klux Klan to the extent that the bellowing is discreet and inoffensive?

OLD AGE.

(From the Greek.)
YOU'RE getting old, Anacreon.

The ladies say to me,

"Just glance into your mirror,
And you will clearly see
Your head's quite bare
Of any hair."

I may be old, I know not;
But one thing I know true:

That when old age and death are nigh
The wisest thing to do
Is to have some fun
Before life's done.

OUTS.

If women were not naive they would not be women. The protest against making women as hard-boiled as men, which goes so far as what Joseph Hergesheimer says of women working downtown—that they are women, indeed, which must fast destroy our deference for them and put them upon a brutal party with men is persistent and probably instinctive. Men perhaps have a feeling that we are not as strong as we are.

And what of his spirit? Does it still live and burn? Has he lost his ambition? If it does, just in proportion as he travels through life he develops his mind accordingly. He is thus enabled to transmit to his progeny a greater capability than he had at birth. In this manner does each generation progress, until at some time in the distant future, the superman may make his appearance.

Then, when he finishes this life, he still has a purpose to serve, for the chemical elements of which he is composed may go to help build up the bodies of his descendants.

It looks as if the chief feature of the forthcoming advertising convention in London will be the division of us.

The entire population of Cascade Township, near Independence, Kan., has given up tobacco following a religious revival which shows how merciful the people of Kansas are. When we understand this sort of thing we will take the same precautions against Kansas, that is, fumigate them emotionally, that Arizona is taking against California. Arizona fears hoof and mouth disease from Californians, who are always running around blowing off California, and well may we fear something worse and more lasting from the people of Kansas. They have the Paradise complex, besides which hoof and mouth disease is no more than a summer rain.

A fund of $100,000 is being sought for the purpose of making a permanent record of developments and discoveries in the field of mathematics, probably a preparation to count what Mr. Ford would make if he got Muscle Shoals.

Senate's Right to State

From the New Republic.

To Mr. Coolidge, who challenges

Senate's scrutiny of the Treasury under and in accordance with a plan to "return to a sound currency," the Senate's conduct of the investigation, Sir Fletcher obtained the decree. It is believed that there is no civilization of that kind. Through the impetuosity of that kind, the representatives of the people in the House of Representatives have been able to obtain a complete information as to the financial condition of the country. The result was beyond her expectations. Not only did the barometer fall heavily in love with "Miss Fair Victim," but she herself became passionately smitten of her torturer.

Farr immediately begged his wife to divorce him so that he might marry Lady Marjorie. The veteran tactician had not faced the possibility of such a crisis for two decades without having fully prepared to meet it. Mrs. Farr went at once to her rival, with a proposal eminently sensible and practical.

In the harrowing state of Florida, public opinion regarding divorce, she said, the step contemplated by Farr would inevitably wreck his career. There was no doubt that he could soon become a Judge; or, if he accepted an invitation to enter Parliament, he might have the office of Solicitor-General for representing the general eight states.

The committee feels authorized after a somewhat careful review of the foregoing limits that it is in the history of this Government now any instance of a refusal of a department, or even of the Senate, to accept a man of the caliber of Farr. Indeed, the only man who could possibly be accepted is Farr himself.

The Secretary of the Treasury, however, has been compelled to resign. The reason is that he has received his appointment from the Senate, and the Senate has rejected him. The Senate has rejected him because he has been appointed by the President.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

DURING all her wedded life, Ethel Farr had dreaded the coming of Nemesis. Plain to the verge of ugliness, and five years older than her husband, she had married him when he was young, poor and grievously hampered by fate. She could not boast of having given him his brilliant intelligence, but she could justly maintain that he had provided opportunity and incentive to use it. And now, at last, he was the famous Daniel Farr, King's Counsel, leader of the London bar, with the highest political or judicial offices within his grasp.

But Mrs. Farr was haunted by a deadly fear. She was the true architect of her husband's career, and he had paid a heavy price for her services. She had resolutely smothered in him what Ibsen calls the love-life; had perpetrated against him what Ibsen declares is the unappeasable sin against the Holy Ghost. How long would life delay to exact its vengeance? When would she appear—the Nemesis, the woman bringing grace, beauty and passion; the lover-woman destined to conquer the mother-woman?

Blow Falls After 20 Years.

Such is the anterior plot of Sir Arthur Sutro's "The Laughing Lady," a drama of interest and some charm, but old-fashioned and in the vogue, which will open Saturday—the principal function of which was to restore Miss Ethel Barrymore, in all her unshaded sweetness and appeal, to a smart and worshipful audience last night at the Shubert-Jefferson.

For no less than 20 years Mrs. Farr, that intense egotist, had held her husband's heart imprisoned, peddling with a jailer's zeal every gate against romance. And then, suddenly, the blow fell. Strangely enough, he was stricken during the course of a savage cross-examination to which he submitted Lady Marjorie Colladine in a divorce court.

Lady Marjorie's husband, Sir Hector, a stupid and bad-tempered soldier, had become convinced by his frightful relatives that his wife had been unfaithful to him while he was with the expedition that attempted to scale Mount Everest.

Thanks largely to the skillful conduct of the prosecution, Sir Hector obtained his decree. But the accused woman's demeanor on the stand convinced two men that her protestations of innocence were true. One was her husband and the other was Farr himself.

Mrs. Farr's Strange Proposal.

Through the ineptitude of that heaped host, Hamilton Playgate, it happened that Lady Marjorie and the barrister were guests and dinner-givers in the same house on the very evening after the trial. Out of feminine pique, Lady Marjorie set herself to captivate her pitiless inquisitor. The result was beyond her expectations. Not only did the barrister fall headlong in love with his victim, but she herself became passionately enamored of her torturer.

Farr immediately begged his wife to divorce him so that he might marry Lady Marjorie. That veteran tactician had not faced the possibility of such a crisis for two decades without having fully prepared to meet it. Mrs. Farr went at once to her rival, with a proposal eminently sensible and practical.

she said, the test contemplated by Farr would inevitably wreck his career. There was no doubt that he could soon become a Judge; or if he accepted an invitation to enter Parliament, he might have the office of Solicitor-General for the asking. Why should Lady Marjorie and Farr be too much for two decades without having fully prepared to meet it. Mrs. Farr went at once to her rival, with a proposal eminently sensible and practical.

Unusual Tales of Adventure, Tragedy, Mystery, Humor From Real Life

By Robert Welles Ritchie.

SANE AS PROVEN.

In our walk together after a tee shot, my golfing friend and I were talking of the perilously narrow frontier between what the world calls sanity and that other condition of mind which may appear to its possessor utmost sanity, but which by decision of a legal commission in lunacy may entitle that possessor to a ticket out of the world to a destination of terrible shadows. Said the doctor:

"It was at Daniels' request that Congress enacted the law of June 1920, which the Government has placed the oil reserves under the sole jurisdiction of the Secretary and which, it is argued, made invalid the executive order under which that control was given to the Interior Department in May, 1921."

The oil act has been a subject of much controversy since the oil scandal developed, friends of former Secretary Fall contending that under its provisions the executive department could lease all of the oil lands. This view has been disputed, particularly by Senator Walsh (Dem.) of Montana, "prosecutor" of the oil committee, who contend that the clear intent of Congress was to legalize drilling of offset wells to preserve the fuel supply in the ground as far as possible.

G. Flannery, Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and Dr. H. Foster Bain, director of the Bureau of Mines, who have appeared several times before the oil committee, reached the courthouse a few minutes before Daniels and waited in an ante-room. They were to have appeared before the Senate Oil Committee today, but were excused temporarily in order that they might go before the grand jury.

At the same time, Senator J. A. Tamm, special Government counsel, submitted to the jury the various documents relating to the oil fields of the naval oil reserves in California and Wyoming. These included the executive order transferring control of the reserves from the Navy to the Interior Department; the leases entered into between Albert B. Fall and Edwin Denby, representing the Government, and E. L. Doheny's Pan-American Petroleum Co. and Harry F. Sinclair Mammoth Oil Oil.

Other documents available, most of which were presented before the Senate Oil Committee, include letters and memorandums exchanged between Fall and officials of the Interior and Navy Departments. The first procedure was the identification of these papers by officials of departments.

"Tompkins came to me with tears in his eyes to shake my hand. He shook the hands of his lawyers and of each member of the lunacy commission. 'Gentlemen,' he said, 'my wife's money ran the household seemed not to have distressed him in the least.'

"But there poor Tompkins was due to appear before the lunacy commission and with no money to secure lawyers to look out for his interests. Everybody knew he had the money, you see; Tompkins and one of these delightfully incompetent fellows who blunder through life like Micawber. The fact that his wife's money ran the household seemed not to have distressed him in the least."

"And then—"

"My friend the Doctor had come to his ball and was studying its money. He could risk a mashie, or had he better play safe for the top of the hill with a long iron? Then he chose the iron."

"Well?" impatiently from myself."

"And then my friend Tompkins said: 'Now, gentlemen, if my deep appreciation I shall give you a perfect imitation of the love call of a wild turkey gobble in the cane-brakes of Arkansas.'"

Reported to Klan Official.

After the trial, Mrs. Cohen, who would report to the Klan official, who would congratulate her on her success as an investigator and take her affidavit. Then she would be sent out to buy and drink more whisky.

Last night this woman, Mrs. Margaret Florence Cohen, who is living apart from her husband, for the first time in her life spent a night behind bars, a prisoner. Throughout the long night she sobbed with head in hands, racked with grief in a cell of the East St. Louis Jail, deserted by her Ku Klux Klan associates and with no one to turn to for bond.

But she did not complain of the loss of friendship she had made among the klansmen. What grieved her was the fear that her brothers and sisters down South, where they make the boast of chivalry, would hear of her predicament.

"I know I have done wrong," she told police. "I got into bad company and went along with my companions in evil. After they worked me without pay until I was penniless, they cast me aside and I tried to do what they have been doing and got caught."

In a cell in another part of the jail, stretched on an iron bench, lay a veteran of the World War. He has been accused and found guilty of being a shade of his former self.

On October he joined the Ku Klux Klan in East St. Louis. He was given employment to purchase whisky in the so-called clean-up campaign by the Klan in East St. Louis, and the moonshine whisky that he absorbed in pursuit of his duties did not improve his physical condition.

He is Harry Kendall of Morrocco, Ind., and he, with Mrs. Cohen, were arrested yesterday on a charge that they had sought to extort $600 from an East St. Louis druggist after threatening him with prosecution in the Federal Court for an alleged illegal sale of whisky.

But the selection of this druggist for the "shakedown" did not fit their plans. They did not know that only a few years ago he was Thomas J. Ganey, Federal narcotics inspector, with a record as expert trapper of narcotics peddlers.

And so when they went to Ganey with their plan of extortion he trapped them and before they realized what had happened, they were in the hands of police, and both have made statements admitting their guilt, according to the police.

Mrs. Cohen's Story.

Mrs. Cohen told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she came to St. Louis about three years ago after separating from her husband. She had always worked for a living, but became ill last winter and lost her position.

While seeking employment she met the official Ku Klux Klan who offered her employment setting evidence against saloon keepers, and, being without funds, she accepted. As whisky is being generally sold, she had no trouble getting evidence. After working two weeks she asked for her salary.

She said she was handed a check for $20, but unsigned. She says she was told to sign her own name, and when she protested that she had no money in bank, the Klan whisky investigator vouched for the check at a restaurant where

To protect womanhood is one of the tenets of the Ku Klux Klan, and so the Ku Klux whisky investigator of the East St. Louis Klan, who has set out to adjust the morals of the people of St. Clair County, employed a woman to assist him in his work.

Her duties were to go about and purchase whisky from saloon keepers, bootleggers and drug stores and then make affidavits for Assistant United States District Attorney Walcott upon which prosecution were to be based.

The woman accepted the job and was to be paid $30 a week out of the Ku Klux treasury. She did purchase whisky in saloons and other places where her duties took her, and she had to drink it in places where they would not let her take it away.

"And then—"

she cashed it.

This was last Thursday, when she met Kendall for the first time. Realizing later that she had made a mistake in cashing the check, she said, she planned with Kendall, who also had not been paid, to extort money from druggists against whom they had affidavits.

One of these druggists was Ganey, whose store is at 341 East Broadway. Kendall made the demand for the money, according to Ganey. The druggist played for time, notified the police of the situation and then proceeded to negotiate with Kendall and Mrs. Cohen.

Arrested at Hotel.

The result was that Mrs. Cohen, arrested in the lobby of the Maryland Hotel, Ninth and Pine streets, who recently were indicted for extortion from druggists by the St. Clair County grand jury, yesterday furnished bond in the sum of $2000 each, signed by H. Goedecke of East St. Louis.

Ovis and R. M. Jones, brothers of 274 Bond avenue, members of the East St. Louis Ku Klux Klan, were arrested last night on an indictment charging them with carrying concealed weapons. They had pistol permits issued by Ju-ane. G. Dennis, Justice of the Peace of Canten Township, a suburb of East St. Louis. Dennis is a foreman employed by Swift &

When S. Glenn Young, "two-gun man" of Williamson County, who came here last week to head of the East St. Louis Klan, heard of the arrest of Kendall and Mrs. Cohen, he swore to Federal warrants against them charging conspiracy to defeat the national prohibition act. The warrants were issued at 7 p.m. by United States Commissioner Frizzell. Mrs. Cohen said it was one of Young's assistants who had employed her.

Young refused to make a statement.

Three other East Side klansmen, Harvey McCormick, A. L. Cummings and Dr. H. F. Killene, exalted cyclops, who recently were indicted for extortion from druggists by the St. Clair County grand jury, yesterday furnished bond in the sum of $2000 each, signed by H. Goedecke of East St. Louis.

A capias has been issued for Lawrence Watson, East St. Louis klanman, who is to be indicted with assault to commit murder. He shot Walter Vincent, village marshal of Washington Park, in a dispute as to who was entitled to that office.

That She Might Leave Him Alone to End Affair With School Teacher.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch
NEW YORK, April 29.—Within a few minutes after the weird story of Clarence O. Baring, wealthy chemist and manufacturer's agent, was told to the grand jury at White Plains, indictment were returned late yesterday charging him with trying to murder his wife by poisoning her food with arsenic and feeding disease germs to her.

Mrs. Baring was the principle their new life together. Aliment Puzzled Her Physician. But the illness which plagued the symptoms of disease throughout became worse. It persisted so that she finally went to her physician, Dr. Henry J. Vier, and told him.

He told her at once her hopes of motherhood were futile. She was puzzled by her ailment. She retained her hope, but the illness grew until, a month ago, at Atlantic City, she became violently ill. She was brought back by her husband to the Hotel Billmore. There she grew worse. Finally, she had to be taken in an ambulance from the hotel to her home. Her doctor was called. Already suspicious from the symptoms, Dr. Vier told her he was satisfied. She was again slowly poisoned. She began to watch her husband very closely. He was very solicitous for her, but his actions made her suspicious. She went to District Attorney Howland of Westchester County. He put the State police on the case.

Obtained Germs From Hospital.

She charged that these detectives followed him and found him with the other woman. On his plea of forgiveness they became reconciled. He made fervid promises of loyalty. Mrs. Baring said she thought they had found their happiness at last. Together they took a second honeymoon to Europe last summer.

She told of their happiness last fall, after their return from Europe. Baring seemed once more an ardent lover. Then she told of slowly sickening at her home at Park avenue. White Plains, the first of their return from Europe. She told how at first she believed she was to become a mother, and how that seemed the fitting climax to

This was the story of Mrs. Baring as related by the authorities yesterday.

After appearing before the grand jury she was so nervously fatigued she declined to see either the attorney or her attorney, Emanuel M. Steinberg, she made this statement:

"I have no desire to prosecute my husband, but this has gone too far. I have done what I have as a public duty."

The District Attorney has issued a subpoena for Miss Mildred Beam, who, it was stated, might have information bearing on the case.

Miss Beam, a teacher in the public schools of Elizabeth, N. J., was absent without leave from her school today, according to school officials.

Mrs. Baring is 26 years old, a graduate of Columbia University, and has taught at Elizabeth, the last year. School officials said they held her in high esteem.

Husband's Strange Explanation.

A statement... said to have been made by Baring to the District Attorney immediately after his arraignment Friday night, was made public in part yesterday by the authorities. In this Baring is quoted as admitting having given both arsenic and germs to his wife in his food. He explained that he wished to rid himself of his entanglement with the school teacher and that he hoped to make his wife ill, so that she would go to California and he might settle his heart affair for good while she was away without her knowledge. He wanted then to join his wife in California and nurse her back to health. At the request of his attorney, Charles Edward Long, Baring was permitted to plead to the indictments last evening. Shortly after 5 o'clock he was taken into the courtroom before County Judge Blakely. Once, a scattering of persons drawn from the street by Willard Parker Hospital.

Mrs. Baring, after her serious illness of the previous months, had dismissed her nurse, Miss Lucille Hammell April 3. Rowland told her to have the nurse return as a precaution. April 10 the nurse took residence with Mrs. Baring, with instructions to see that all the food she ate came from the nurse's hands.

Baring had urged Mrs. Baring to give up lump sugar as unfit for her. He insisted she use granulated sugar. He also had adopted the practice of bringing food to her room every night for her just before she went to sleep. April 10 Mrs. Baring did not eat this food, but gave it to the nurse to give to the authorities. They turned it over to Dr. Alexander O. Gettier, medical examiner.

In this food he found arsenic and disease germs, the charges stated.

In the sugar he also found arsenic in quantities.

Germs Used for Immunizing.

Baring's alleged introduction of disease germs into his wife's food, far from being the deadly matter that it appears to the lay mind, is now in actual practice in France as a means of immunizing the patient from the disease in question, according to Dr. William H. Park, director of Willard Parker Hospital laboratories, who confirmed the fact that Baring had obtained about one trillion disease germs from the hospital.

Judge Blakely asked him: "How do you plead?"

The prisoner made as if to speak, but Long制止ed him aside.

"Not guilty," the lawyer said. He repeated the same to each of the three indictments.

Close by the courthouse all during the day kept Mrs. Walter S. Strood, Baring's mother. She came from her home in Baltimore to plead with Mrs. Baring to drop the charges against Baring. Saturday night they faced each other in the parlor in the Baring home. The two women, both of whom have curiously similar names, were seated side-by-side.

CARDS 0, REDS 2, AFTER 4 INNINGS; SOTHORON PITCHES

By Herman Wecke,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

CINCINNATI, April 29.—Allan Sotheron and Adolfo Luque were the rival hurlers in the third game of the series between the Cardinals and Reds today.

George Topper, who made a mess of two defensive plays yesterday, was on the bench and Lester Bell returned to short.

Klem and Wilson were the umpires.

The attendance was estimated at 2600.

A card by play account of the game follows:

FIRST INNING. CARDINALS—Flack flied to Harper. Smith reached second when Duncan dropped his line drive. Hornsby's cap was deflected by Laque to Caveney who threw him out. Smith taking third. Bottomley flied to Duncan.—NO RUNS.

CINCINNATI—Burns doubled to left. Daubert bunted safely. Burns taking third. Harper was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Duncan was safe on L. Bell's fumble. Burns scoring. Hargrave fouled to Gonzales. Burns fanned to Freigau. Finelli tapped to Freigau.—NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING. CARDINALS—Burns bunt to Daubert. Freigau flied to Duncan. L. Bell doubled down the left field foul line. Gonzales tapped to Luque. NO RUNS.

CINCINNATI—Cavener walked. Luque bunted safely. Burns bunted, forcing Cavener. Sotheron to Freigau. Sotheron knocked down Dabbert's smash and threw him out at first. Harper singled to center. Luque scoring. Duncan forced Harper. L. Bell, unassisted. ONE RUN.

THIRD INNING. CARDINALS—Burns fanned to Flack. Flack passed to Pinelli. Flack to Daubert. Freigau flied to Duncan. L. Bell doubled down the left field foul line. Gonzales tapped to Luque. NO RUNS.

CINCINNATI—Cavener walked. Luque bunted safely. Burns bunted, forcing Cavener. Sotheron to Freigau. Sotheron knocked down Dabbert's smash and threw him out at first. Harper singled to center. Luque scoring. Duncan forced Harper. L. Bell, unassisted. ONE RUN.

FOURTH INNING. CARDINALS—Hornsby lifted to Harper. Bottomley lined to Harper. Harper took Blades' fly. NO RUNS.

Timely Single of Alternate Outfielder Drives Home Winning Run Against Cleveland and Puts Sisler's Club in Seventh Place—Bennett and Robertson Come Through.

By Dent McSkimming.

Regardless of whether the Browns make as good a showing in the American League race this season as they did in 1922, they already have proved that they have better reserve strength and better balance than they had two years ago.

Yesterday, Manager Tris Speaker hit a single—the single that won the game.

Jacobson fell into slumps two years ago, but he had to remain in the game. The reserve outfielders that year were Cedric Durst and Chick Shorten, both left-hand batters. Other reserves that year were Herman Bronkie, Eddie Foster and Jim Austin. Still, the team finished only half a game out of first place.

Bennett Also Made Good.

Evans' pinch hit yesterday does not entirely prove the case, but there are other instances. Since the season opened Manager Sisler has called upon Herschel Bennett several times as an outfielder re-

Urban Shocker Out Of Game for Another Week, Doctor Writes

BUSINESS MANAGER of the Browns yesterday received a letter from the physician who is treating Urban Shocker in Cleveland, in which it was intimated that Shocker would not be able to join the club for a week. His illness is diagnosed as an acute case of tonsillitis and his system has absorbed some of the toxic matter from the infected tonsils.

Shocker's absence is a severe handicap to the Browns because of the poor form shown by the other members of the pitching staff. Danforth and Kolp are the only regulars who have shown real ability. The Browns will depart on a road trip next Monday and Shocker will probably join them in Cleveland.

serve to replace Williams. Bennett played very fine ball and batted .300 in 20 times at bat. Sisler called upon Gene Robertson to play third base and Gene came through with a fine fielding exhibition and batted .333 in 24 times at bat. Ellerbe, although he has not hit as high as Robertson, has fended better than any 1922 third-sacker.

Thus, in every instance where reserves have been called upon this season, they have made a favorable impression. McMillan, Simon and Pat Collins have all done good work.

There is no immediate possibility of Manager Sisler breaking up the outfield combination to make room for Bennett or Evans. Jacobson's slump, it is believed, is merely temporary. Evans is more apt to play a single in the pinch, but Jake does great damage with the bat when he is in his stride.

Cleveland Errors Help Browns.

The Browns were aided very materially yesterday by Cleveland's errors. Joey Sewell, Lurene Edwards and Stephenson were all guilty of hobbies at critical moments. However, the Browns followed up a Cleveland error with a base hit or two, thus taking full advantage of the other fellow's generosity.

As on the day previous, they had to fight an uphill battle for Cleveland obtained the advantage in the fourth inning by scoring two runs. The Browns were back and tied it in the fifth, but Stephenson's home run in the eighth again put Cleveland in the lead. A fielding blunder by Lutze in the eighth put Jacobson on third and the Browns tied the score once more when Stephenson let Severeid's hard grounder get through him. And then, in the ninth, they won the battle.

Danforth Wins His First Victory.

Dave Danforth, in beating the Indians, scored his first triumph of the season. He was in good form and he retired 15 batters on fly balls. He fanned 4.

McManus has been hitting the ball hard and rather than take a chance on playing for a double play, Manager Tris Speaker decided on filling the bases. Then, in came the Browns' bit of deep thinking and Joe Evans' line single.

Morning fielding practice for the Indians' infield is planned by Manager Tris Speaker when the team returns home Thursday, in an effort to bolster the defense. Nine errors were committed by the Indians Sunday and yesterday. The defense also weakened in games with Detroit and Chicago.

Giants Not Hitting Hard.

The Giants are batting with less force than any team in the National League, and yet they are leading the league. "It's the heat that wins," said a rival manager, "and if they don't hit they win anyhow."

"How is anyone going to buck a combination like that?" We put our pitchers out there, maybe they don't and maybe they don't, but what difference does it make? They get away with the games and they'll have a lead again this Eastern section that will make the National race look like a funeral parade the first thing you know."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Johnny Layton of St. Louis opened his week's road trip, in which he will play eight more games, by defeating Harry Kieckhefer twice here yesterday. It was evident from the way he displayed in the evening match, when he ran out in 20 innings, that Layton is at his best form. The double victory put him back in the lead in the National Three-Cushion Billiard League race, a few points ahead of Bob Cannefax of Detroit.

Yesterday's scores were: Layton, 50-7-49; Kieckhefer, 42-7-48; Layton, 50-9-50; Kieckhefer, 26-3-28.

Layton ran 31 points in 12 innings in the evening match for one of the most spectacular exhibitions ever seen here.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil the scientific way to fight Acidosis and Constipation

If you are afflicted with sour stomach, have chronic indigestion; if your breath is bad and you suffer with heartburn—remember these are Nature's warnings that you must help her fight Acidosis.

Most of us eat too much and exercise too little. That means poor digestion—to much acid in the stomach. Acidosis, the name science gives to this condition, is the forerunner of 75% of all sickness. Don't let Acidosis get you in its grip.

Science Discovers New Way to Bring Relief

Physicians have long recommended milk of magnesia as the safe neutralizer of stomach acids. But milk of magnesia aids the body to combat acidosis to win the fight against Acidosis. Another co-agent was needed to help the body cast off waste poisons quickly.

The need for this agent led to the discovery of a scientific method of combining milk of magnesia and pure mineral oil.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil is the name of this wonderful new-discovery. It acts quickly and brings welcome relief. The milk of magnesia counteracts the harmful poisons and the mineral oil, by lubrication, brings about easy, natural elimination.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil is absolutely harmless. It may be given to the young, mixed with their milk, without the slightest danger. Your own doctor will recommend Haley's if you ask him. Stop at your druggist's today and get a bottle. Trial size 35c; economical family size $1.00.

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

Bad dandruff almost always comes from one or two causes. One is the bunching of errors at the last moment and the other is a drop in efficiency. The hair grows and the hair grows. Haircutters cannot win a major league championship unless a manager is clever enough to work two per game and change them at the right time.

The disappointment felt by the Pittsburgh fans is intensified by their pre-season optimism that the team this year was going to be the long-looked-for winning combination. To date they haven't shown any indication that they are still fighting losing division, as they have in the second division and getting thrashed in the pinches. The pitchers certainly are not coming up to expectations. They may do better as they go along, but to date the presumable stars are not shining.

Giants Not Hitting Hard.

The Giants are batting with less force than any team in the National League, and yet they are leading the league. "It's the heat that wins," said a rival manager, "and if they don't hit they win anyhow."

"How is anyone going to buck a combination like that?" We put our pitchers out there, maybe they don't and maybe they don't, but what difference does it make? They get away with the games and they'll have a lead again this Eastern section that will make the National race look like a funeral parade the first thing you know."

Danforth Wins His First Victory.

Dave Danforth, in beating the Indians, scored his first triumph of the season. He was in good form and he retired 15 batters on fly balls. He fanned 4.

McManus has been hitting the ball hard and rather than take a chance on playing for a double play, Manager Tris Speaker decided on filling the bases. Then, in came the Browns' bit of deep thinking and Joe Evans' line single.

Morning fielding practice for the Indians' infield is planned by Manager Tris Speaker when the team returns home Thursday, in an effort to bolster the defense. Nine errors were committed by the Indians Sunday and yesterday. The defense also weakened in games with Detroit and Chicago.

BOBBED-HAIR GIRL LIVES AS SAILOR ON NAVY BATTLESHIPDiscovered at Panama by Police-man When Wind Blows Off
Her "Gob's" Hat

Social in the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 29.—In skirts and seclusion, the only girl "gob" in the United States navy spent yesterday with her family and her adventuring ship up in a small East Side hotel.

She was on cruise during battle maneuvers in the South Pacific ended April 12 for pretty, 17-year-old Madeline Blair, when a breeze blew off her sailor cap and disclosed a mass of black bobbed hair. She returned to New York yesterday, flippancy and unconcerned, on the liner Cristobal. Also on board was Patrolman Charles Compton, to whose long memory plus that puff of wind, Madeline owes her discovery.

Compton, on vacation at Balboa, was talking to an officer on the Arizona when the breeze whipped off Madeline's hat. With her bobbed hair blowing, he remembered her as a girl he had seen in company of several sailors when the fleet lay at anchor in the Hudson six weeks ago. His suspicions were confirmed by investigation, and Madeline was put over-side and sent back to Cristobal.

While the fleet lay in the Hudson, she said yesterday, she met the girl who supplied her with a sailor's uniform, and arranged for her to go aboard the Arizona. He secreted her below decks and took her cold food whenever he had a chance. At night she would leave her hiding place and go on deck for the movies. There, she said, she met two other women, disguise das sailors, who were wives of two of the crew.

Officials of the navy yard said the violator had Federal law.

Telephone Connections at Both Terminals and Shower Baths Special Attractions

Television connections, at both terminals and shower baths, announced as unique in overnight train service, are features of the saloon-buffet cars put in operation yesterday in the "Diamond Special," Chicago-St. Louis train of the Illinois Central Railroad, leaving Chicago and St. Louis at 11:30 p.m. and arriving at 7:25 a.m.

The cars, built by the Pullman company, at a reputed cost of $50,000 each, have ivory ceilings and woodwork of walnut, and blue silk window-curtains with bronze fittings. The partitions are of various designs and loosely afford group nooks at either end of the car. The breakfast and supper sections seats 24 persons. Valet service is obtainable.

HARRY B. MATTHEWS JR. SUES
WIFE CHANGING DESERTIONManager of Lime Company Files Petition After Her Action for Maintenance.

Harry B. Matthews Jr., vice-president and general manager of the Mississippi Lime & Material Co., of Alton, yesterday filed suit to divorce Mrs. Marie McKenna Matthews, alleging desertion.

Recently Mrs. Matthews sued him for $750 a month separate maintenance. She asserted that although he had property worth $1,000,000 he had failed to contribute to her support. They were married 14 years ago and separated Feb. 2, 1918. Mrs. Matthews also has a son pending in West Virginia in which she claims a large interest in the estate of her father, the late C. W. McKenna, who was vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

MRS. BRYAN FLEES PUBLICITY

Disappearances After Stating Evangelist Was Effecting Paralysis Cure.
By the Associated Press.

HAZELHURST, Ga., April 29.—The disappearance of Mrs. William James Bryan from a hotel here after giving a testimonial that Rev. Raymond Richey, evangelist, was effecting a cure for paralysis gave rise to the opinion here that she was seeking to avoid unwanted publicity. It is reported that a telegram was sent by Bryan from Miami asking Richey to eliminate all publicity in connection with his wife, so far as possible.

Mrs. Bryan did not attend services last night, and was reported as having "checked out" at the hotel. In her testimonial, Mrs. Bryan is said to have informed Richey that for the first time in many years, she had felt pain in parts of her body paralyzed. She has been able to move her arms somewhat within the last few days.

POLICE BREAK UP AUTO RACE

Two Drivers Fined $40 in Court for Speeding in City.

All bets were off on an automobile race down West Florissant avenue at 12:20 a. m. yesterday when a police machine overhauled the alleged racers at Grand boulevard, but today it cost $40 each in police courts.

George Bishop, of 4423 North Twenty-first street said he was back of the police machine and only drew alongside at the boulevard stop. Policemen restrained their automobile traveled 5½ miles an hour to make the capture. Walter Hedges of 1821 North Garrison avenue pleaded guilty.

LIKENS SACCHARIN LABELING TO THAT OF 'PURE WHISKY'

First Is No More of Violation of Misbranding
Clause Than the Second,
Attorney Declares.

Saccharin—"the perfect sweetener, probably harmless, 500 times as sweet as sugar"—as manufactured and distributed by the Monsanto Chemical Co., was no more a violation of the misbranding section of the United States Drug and Food Act than the package made and distributed in "the good old days" under the label of "Whisky."—Absolutely Pure.

So declared Attorney Theodore Rausier, in outlining the defense of the Monsanto company, which after an interval of four years went to trial a second time for an alleged offense, involving only a misdemeanor, before Judge Paris of the Federal Court yesterday. But, as previously, when the trial consumed more than four weeks and introduced many scientists and physicians of note as witnesses, it was the article saccharin that went on trial—involved vast property interests and affecting the diet and health of many thousands.

"Of course, in this day, a man could take more whisky than was good for him," continued Attorney Rausier, in his statement to the jury. "But we expect to prove by eminent physiologists and chemists that saccharin is fool-proof. Too much of it becomes unpleasant and unpalatable. It can only be taken in harmless doses."

Rausier began by explaining to the jury that the case involved the language of the label used in 1915, and that when the bill was called into question, the Government's contention in 1915 in bringing the suit, the label was abandoned. Objection was sustained that the company was on trial for what it did then, not its practices now. Rausier continued, stating the defense would prove the article was "positively harmless," as it had been manufactured for 40 years up to the present time, and that it was a boon in the feeding of certain mothers, infants and persons disabled by diabetes.

The Government is being assisted in the prosecution by J. R. Horrigan, a solicitor of the Department of Agriculture, and W. W. Skinner, assistant chief, Bureau of Chemistry. Assisting Rausier are chemists from the Monsanto laboratories, and John F. Queeny, president of the Monsanto company.

At the previous trial, a mistrial resulted, the jury voting about even in nine ballots taken during two days of deliberation, the final vote being 7 to 5 for conviction.

District Attorney Curry, on the other hand, told the jury the Government would prove by equally eminent authorities that saccharin retards digestion, lowers the standard of the digestive fluids and is harmful to the human system when sold and taken by the people generally as a sweetener or food.

Rausier then moved to quash the charge on the ground that the courts had taken judicial knowledge of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia as of the defendant's contention.

Thanks to Larvex—the new, scientific protection against moth damage

Last spring she stored her coat, her husband's dress suit, and the big living-room rug away in this closet. But, first of all, she sprayed each piece with Larvex—the marvelous new liquid that makes moth-holes impossible.

In the fall, everything came out of that closet as safe and sound as it went in. Not a moth-hole in the lot! Before the days of Larvex this would have seemed a miracle. With Larvex, it's a certainty.

Larvex is a clear, colorless liquid that does the work by making wool inedible to moth larvae, without affecting it in any other way. Discourage moth larvae and you end moth-holes; for it's the larvae—not the flying moths—that do the damage.

Larvex can't stain. It can't catch fire. It has no odor. All you do is spray Larvex directly from the bottle onto the cloth. You do this with the Larvex atomizer.

Thousands of retailers are selling clothing, knit-goods, blankets, furniture, carpets, rugs, etc., that are mothproofed by the Larvex Process. Look for the Larvex certificate of guarantee when buying any article subject to moth damage.

Ask for Larvex at your drug, furniture or department store. The money it costs seems almost nothing compared to the money it saves. Pint bottles, $1.00; pint with atomizer, $1.75; quart bottles, $1.50; quart with atomizer, $2.25.

POLICEMAN-BURGLAR GIVEN TWO YEARS

Gustave Vollmer Pleads Guilty and Is Sentenced by Judge Falkenhainer:

Gustave Vollmer, policeman-burglar, pleaded guilty of burglary and arson today and was sentenced by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer to serve two years in the penitentiary. The two-year sentence was imposed because a jury 10 days ago fixed that punishment for Patrolman Joseph Turner, who was jointly indicted with Vollmer.

Vollmer and Turner, patrolmen of the Angelica Street District, were charged with looting a candy store at 5036 North Broadway on Dec. 9. The crime was traced to them by means of a policeman's brass button which was found on the floor, and subsequently matched up with the buttons of Vollmer's coat, one of which was missing.

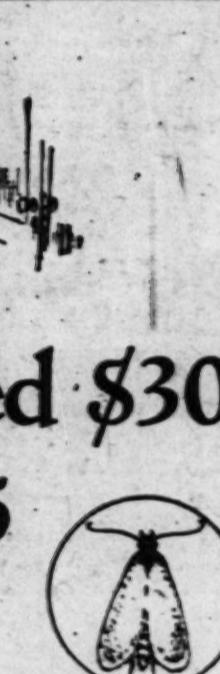

Confronted with the tell-tale button, both officers confessed, police officials say, but later repudiated the confessions and insisted on trial. Today Vollmer reversed himself again and admitted his guilt. Turner, who maintains he is innocent, has appealed from the jury verdict.

AUTO USED IN HOLDUP LAST FRIDAY FOUND ABANDONED

Police Investigation to Learn How Long Car Had Stood in Street Unobserved by Patrolmen on Beat.

A Buick automobile, used by the three men who held up 10 employees in the office of the Grand Laundry, 2044 Lawton boulevard, last Friday, obtaining $75, was found abandoned last night in Louisiana avenue north of Eads avenue. It still contained a cash drawer, checks and papers. Police are investigating to learn how long the car had been there, unnoticed by the policemen on the beat. It was found by a motor cycle policeman.

The car is the property of Silas B. McKinley, 22 Vandeventer place, and was stolen April 14. The license plates had been replaced with ones belonging to the car of Lancelet Lucking, 5822 Kennerly avenue, stolen March 27.

Moths don't make moth holes

The flying moth eats absolutely nothing. It lives only a week or so. But in that time it lays hundreds of eggs in your woolens. The eggs hatch into tiny white worms, which scientists call moth larvae.

It's the moth larva that eat the holes

The moth larva live on wool. They are always hungry—and they decide that you, your wife, live to eat holes in your woolen garments. But wool that has been Larvex is positively inedible to the larvae. They won't touch it—they die if they do.

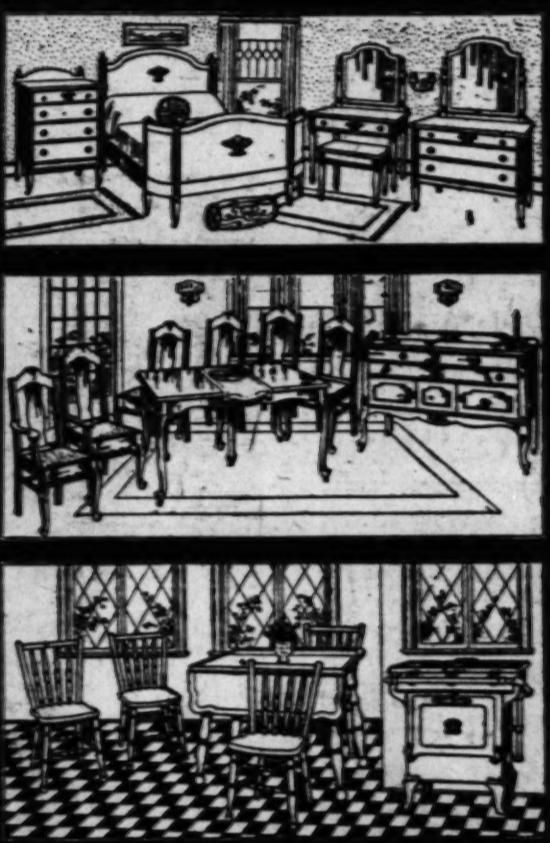

Larvex is sprayed right from the bottle directly onto the fabric.

VANDERBILT

STRANGE WAY TO

The "blind nail king" of San Francisco is living by driving nails into a wall and pulling them out again. People go to him to have their furniture repaired. The blind man drives the nail into the wall and then pulls it out again. The performance is over when he drops the nail into a tin cup.

QUITS WITH A VENGEANCE

When he couldn't collect the salary he was wont to receive, the tender of the Cowlitz River Bridge between Kelso and Longview, Wash., quit his job and locked the draw span (on right) open so that no traffic could cross. Owners of small craft did a thriving business ferrying passengers across the river. Hundreds of autos were bocked on either side of the stream.

FIRST CHINESE OPERA TROUPE WILL BE HEARD IN SAN FRANCISCO

An opera in Chinese will be sung in both Chinese and English for the first time in San Francisco. Most of the performances, however, will be in Chinese, and the performers are all thoroughly Oriental. The impresario, Walter Bartlett, is the only American in the troupe. A chorus of 50 Chinese voices will be heard in the opera.

STRANGE WAY TO MAKE LIVING

The "blind nail king" of San Francisco, who earns a living by driving nails into a board and then pulling them out again. People gather about to watch the blind man drive the nails, and when the performance is over they drop a few coins in the little tin cup.

FLYING ALONG WHITE WAY

Theater-goers in Times square, New York, rubbed their eyes with amazement when they saw scooting along Broadway what appeared to be an airplane. At closer inspection the freak machine was revealed as a Ford chassis with the wings, wheels and propeller of a plane built on it.

Instructions for Governor for Vice-Presidency as Result of Last-Minute Decision — Spencer Gets Passing Reference.

Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 22.—The outstanding features of the Republican State Convention held yesterday were:

Personal and complete domination of the convention by Gov. Hyde.

Instructions to delegates to the Republican National Convention to vote for Calvin Coolidge for the presidential nomination and for Gov. Hyde for the vice presidential nomination.

Adoption of a Ku Klux Klan plank without, however, naming the Klan.

Failure to give more than a passing reference to Senator Spencer and the rejection of a specific resolution of endorsement for Spencer.

Failure to place a former service man on the delegation-at-large to the national convention.

Slight recognition given the western voters in the selection of delegates.

The preponderance of representation on the delegation from the northern half of the State.

It was the most perfectly organized convention in recent years in Missouri. Approximately three-fourths of its delegates had been picked with a view only to their allegiance to Gov. Hyde and their dependability in carrying out the administration orders.

Delegates Merely Ratify States.
As a matter of fact, the delegates had no part in the proceedings of the convention other than to ratify the states prepared by the Governor and a small group of his supporters.

This the delegates did not object or without the slightest attempt at independent expression.
They elected the delegates-at-large chosen by the Hyde slate-makers.
They elected the alternates chosen by the same slate-makers and the presidential electors submitted to them by the slate-makers. They followed orders as to the platform.

The chairman of the convention,
G. Vorhees of St. Joseph, had nothing to do but put the motions and amendments to the vote which were taken in advance, but which were taken with the formality of a mail election. The platform was read and adopted without one word of discussion.

The only effort to break the slate was an inconspicuous one and came from the negro delegates, who insisted upon representation on the delegation-at-large, but who were denied it.

People Made in Hyde's Room.
Gov. Hyde sits in the background of all convention activities. The plates were made in his rooms in the Colonial Hotel and much of the platform was prepared there. His only active public participation in the convention affairs was the delivery of the "keynote" speech at the afternoon session.

That was largely devoted to a recall of the achievements he credited to his administration, to a defense of the national administration in a defense of the national administration. He charged that the larger part of the evidence before the Senate Investigating Committee was merely gossip, but saved himself with a declaration that any public official who had been unfaithful to his trust was not only a criminal, but a traitor to the Republican party.

The instructions for Hyde for the vice-presidency were the result of a minute decision. For days the Governor had stood out against the small group of delegates with whom he had been working on de-motions. He was won over last night and the instructions were instated in the platform.

A surprise of the convention was unveiled on Page 2 Column 2.

The Man on the Sandbox by L.C. Dunn

A BARBERSHOP CHORD.
We watched her golden tresses grow
And then, alas! we saw them go.
A barber, with a pair of shears,
Can soon undo the work of years.

The seven sisters, Sutherland,
Were proud of every glorious strand.
I wonder if they have been bobbed
And of their crowning glory robb'd.

In days of yore I used to see 'em
Exhibit at the dime museum.
But now as freaks, their wondrous hair
Would never get them anywhere.

QUOTE SO.
Those Granite City bandits found that it was a pretty easy master to steal a steel payroll.

A Chicago waiter bought a painting on the internet for $115. He has since been offered twice that amount for it. Somebody must have tipped him off.

Clarence de Mar, the three-time Boston Marathon winner, used to be a printer. From that he developed into a sprinter.
